

Finding and getting your dream FM job

Emina Torlak
emina@cs.washington.edu

hello about me ...

h o u l l about me ...

BSc '03
MEng '04
PhD '09

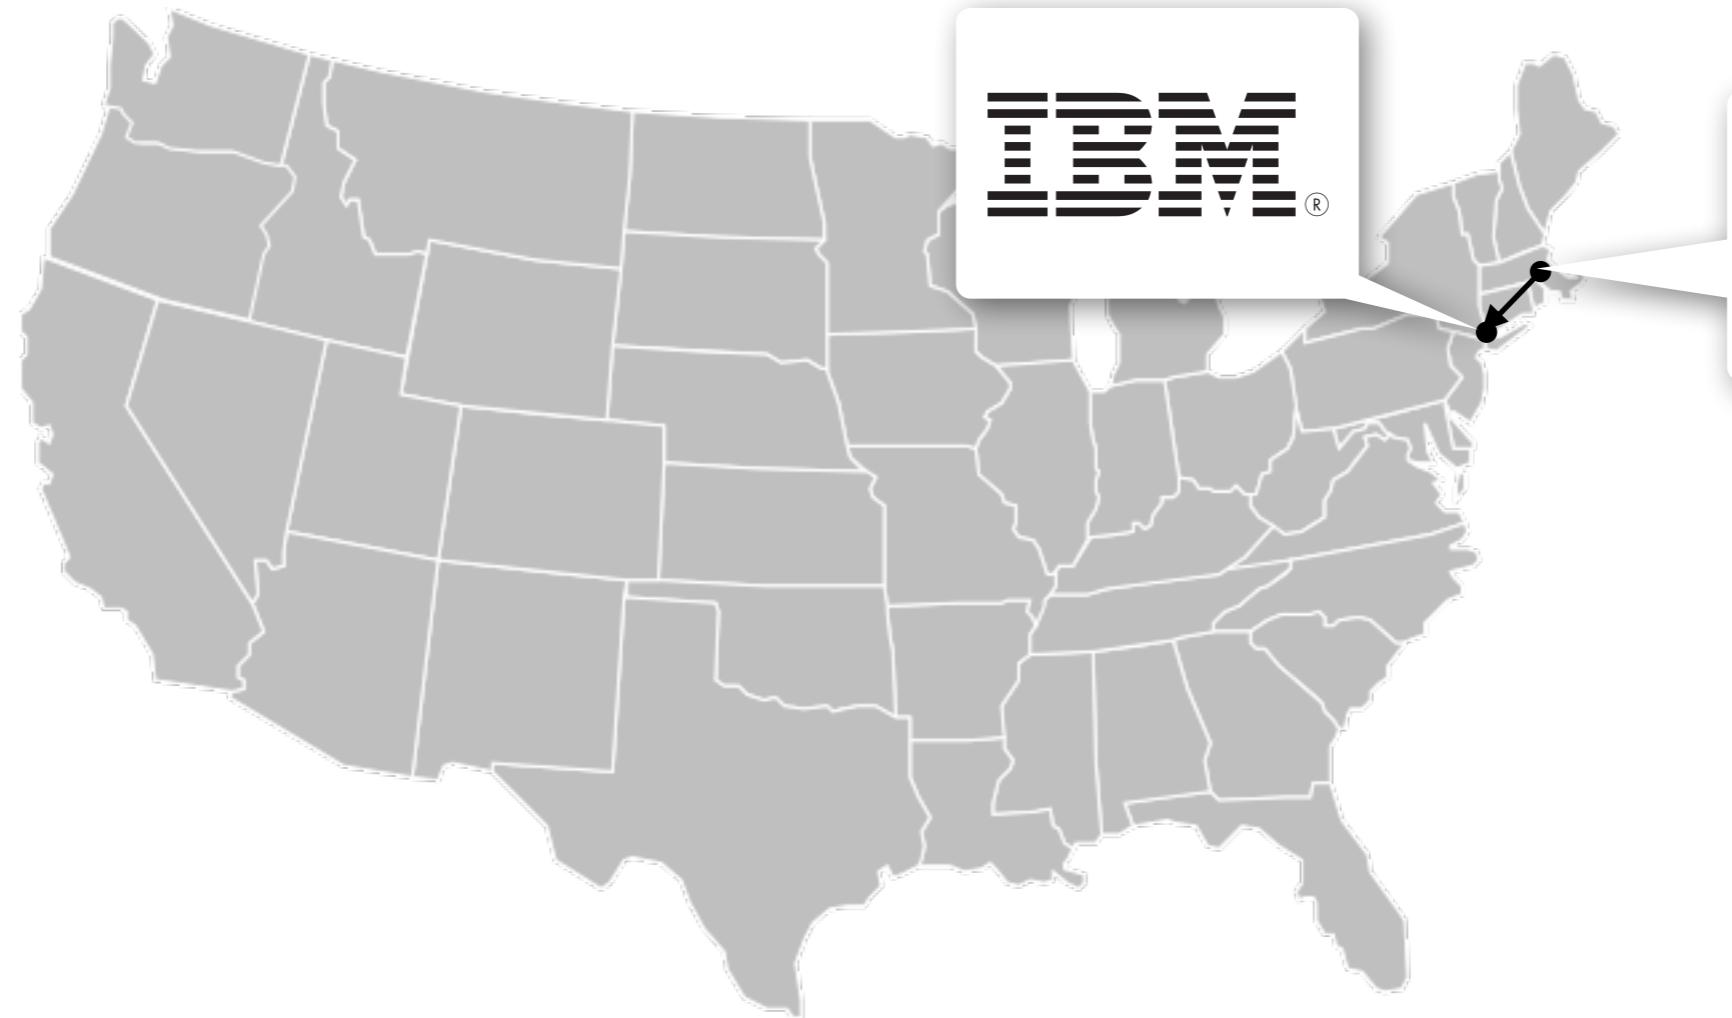

h o u t about me ...

Research Staff
Member '08-'10

BSc '03
MEng '04
PhD '09

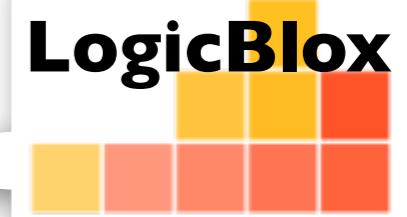

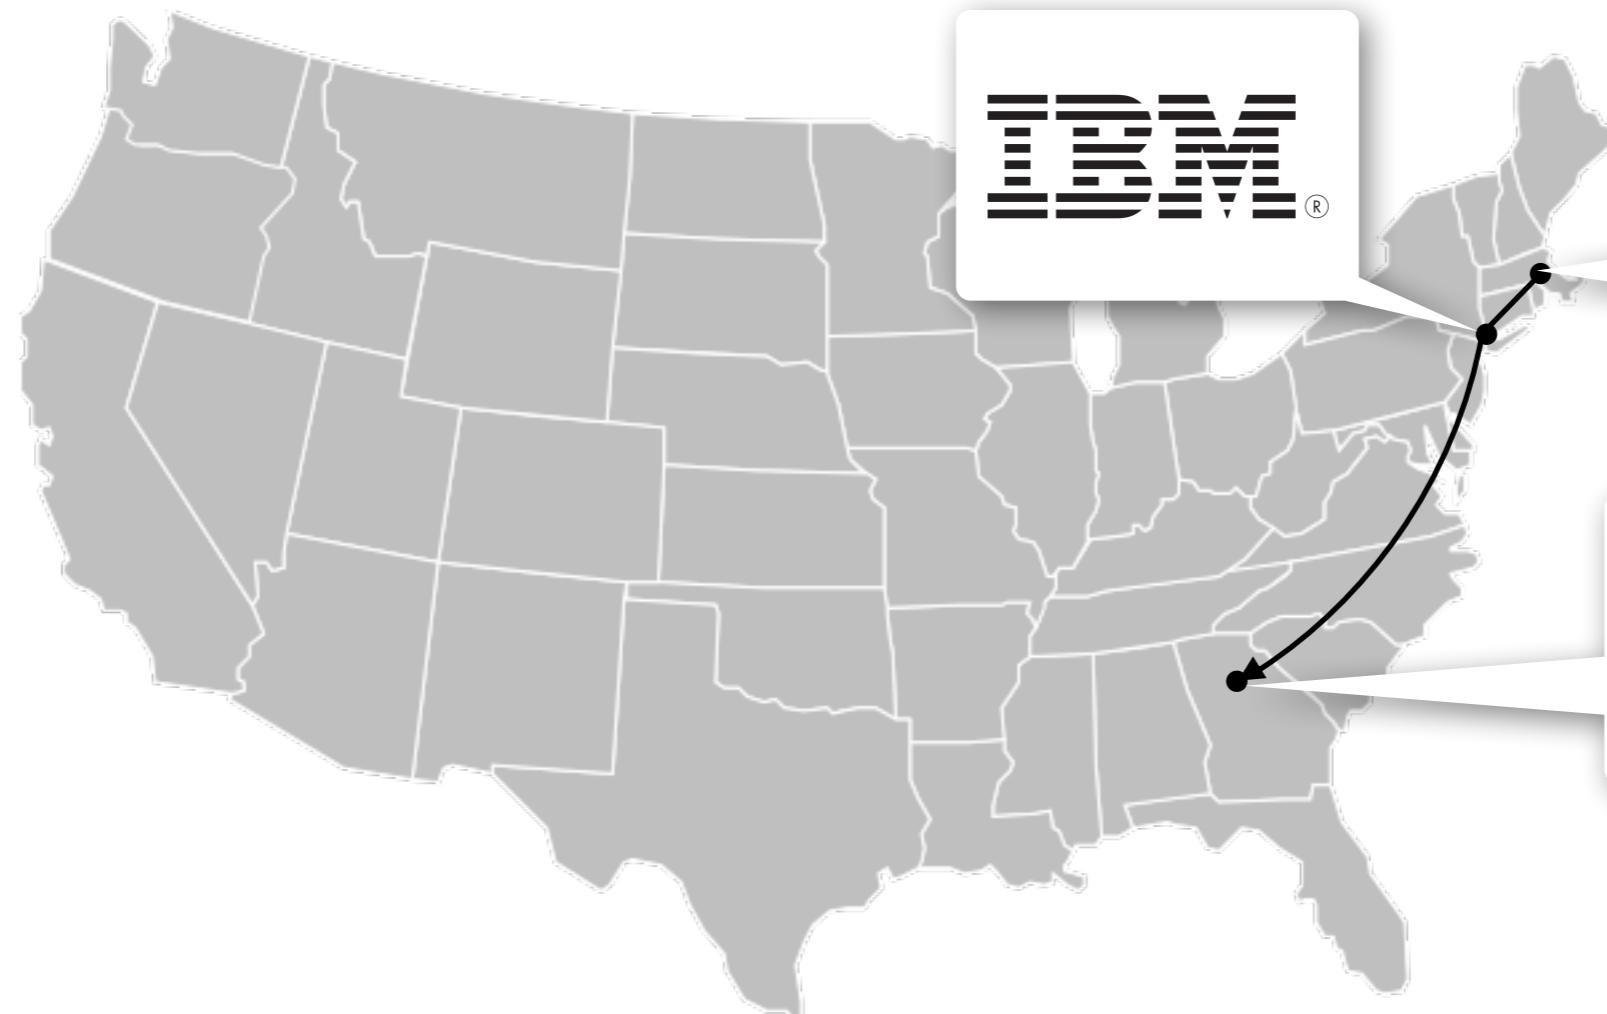

h o u t about me ...

Research Staff
Member '08-'10

BSc '03
MEng '04
PhD '09

Senior Computer Scientist '11

h o u t about me ...

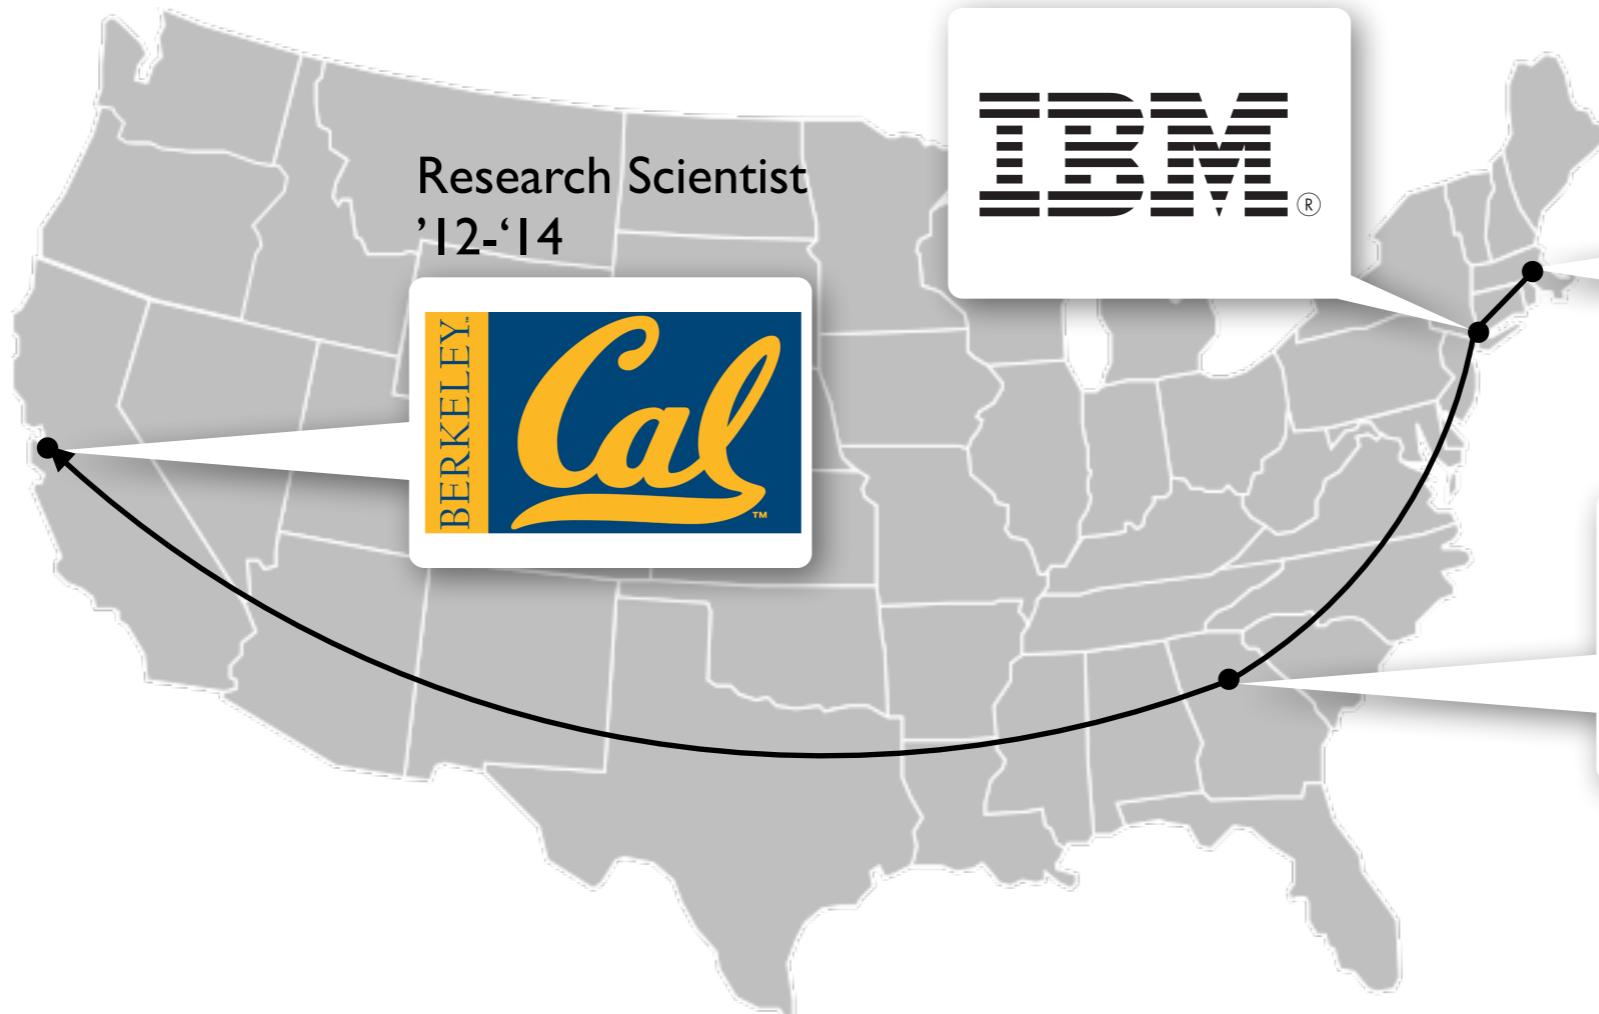

Research Staff
Member '08-'10

BSc '03
MEng '04
PhD '09

Research Scientist
'12-'14

here's about me ...

Assistant Professor

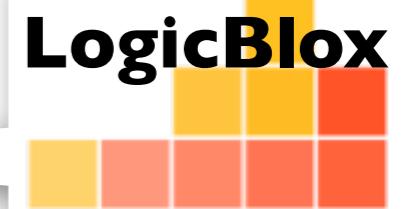

Research Scientist
'12-'14

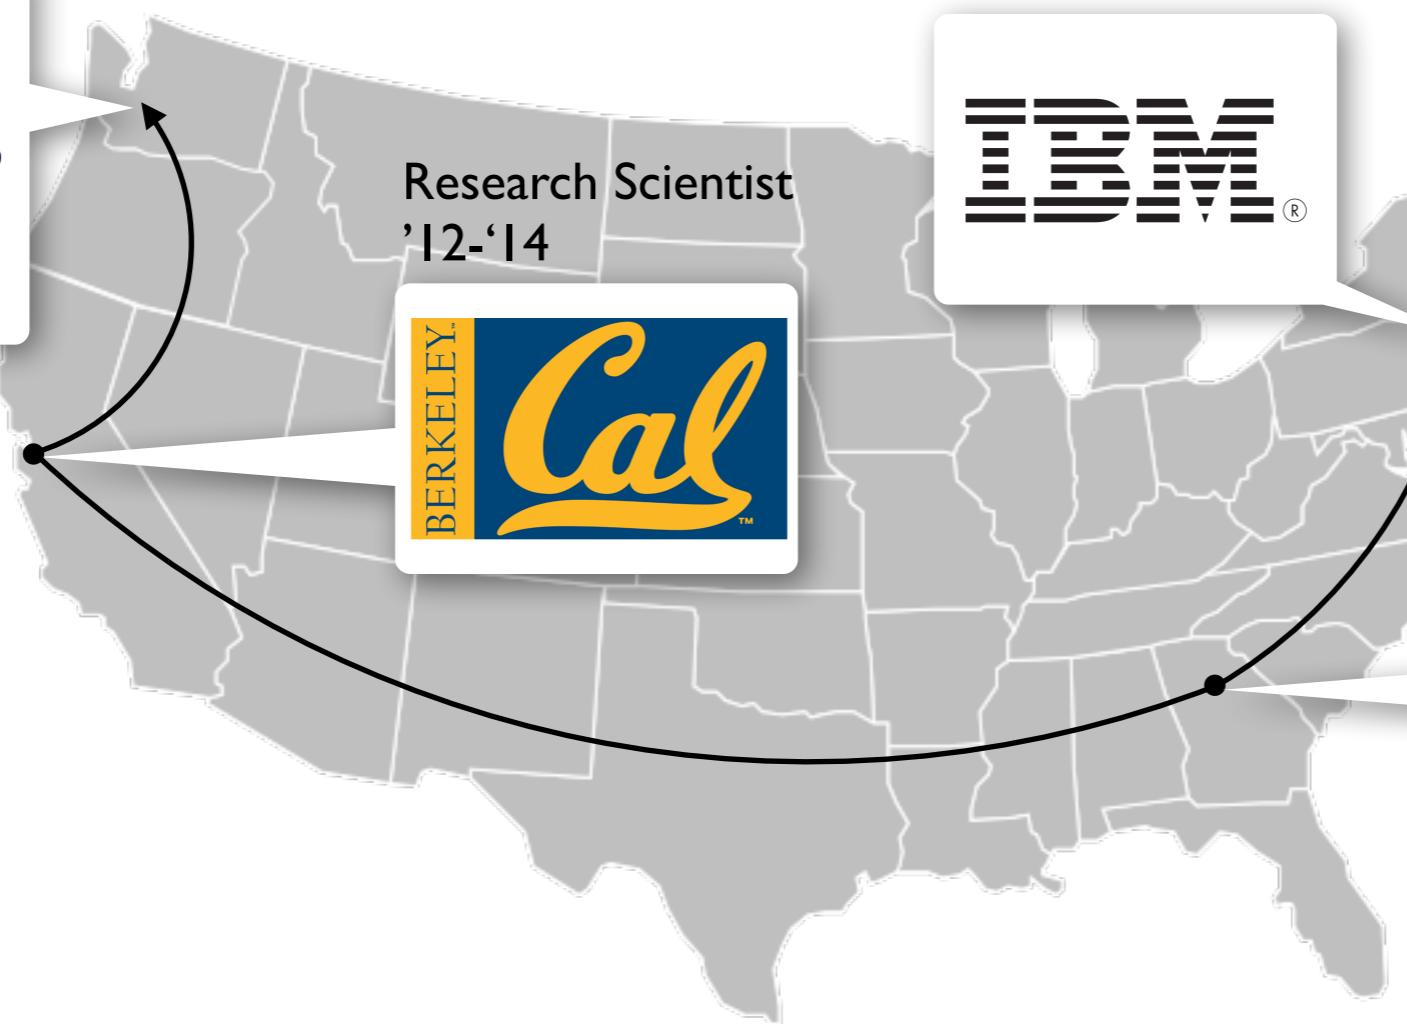

Research Staff
Member '08-'10

BSc '03
MEng '04
PhD '09

Senior Computer Scientist '11

hi

about me ...

Assistant Professor

Research Staff
Member '08-'10

BSc '03
MEng '04
PhD '09

Senior Computer Scientist '11

outline

three pieces of advice ...

outline

three pieces of advice ...

1 Know your goals and values.

outline

three pieces of advice ...

1 Know your goals and values.

2
Build career capital.

outline

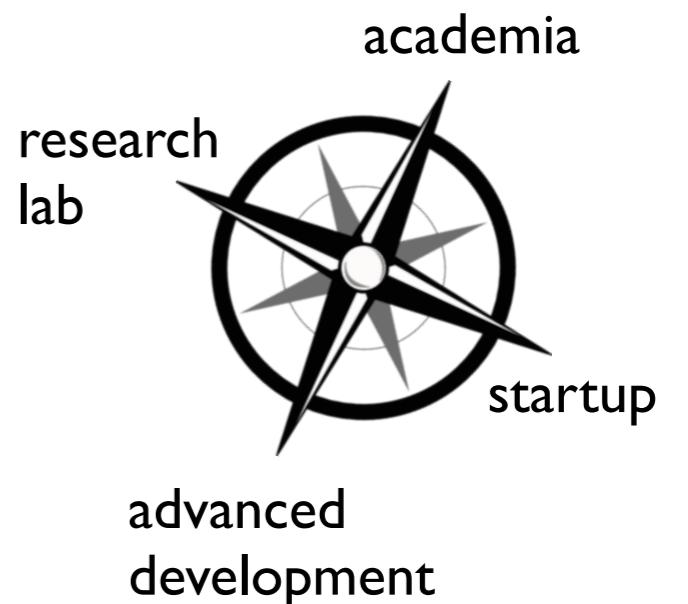

three pieces of advice ...

1 Know your goals and values.

2
Build career capital.

3 Cultivate professional relationships.

I. Know your goals and values

I. Know your goals and values

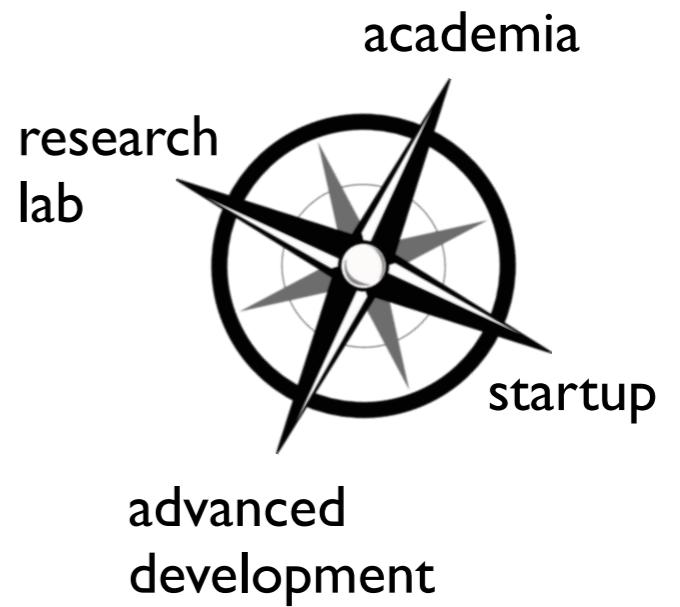

There is no perfect job.

I. Know your goals and values

There is no perfect job.

But you can find the right job for you ...

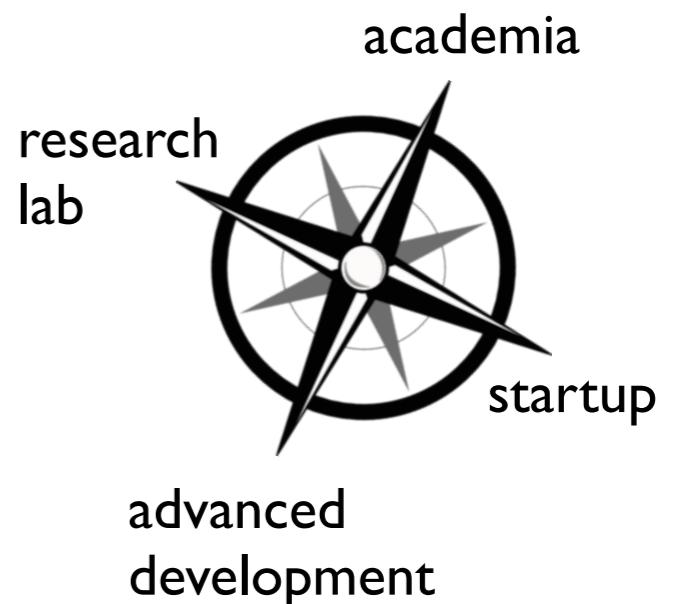

I. Know your goals and values

There is no perfect job.

But you can find the right job for you ...

If you know your goals and values.

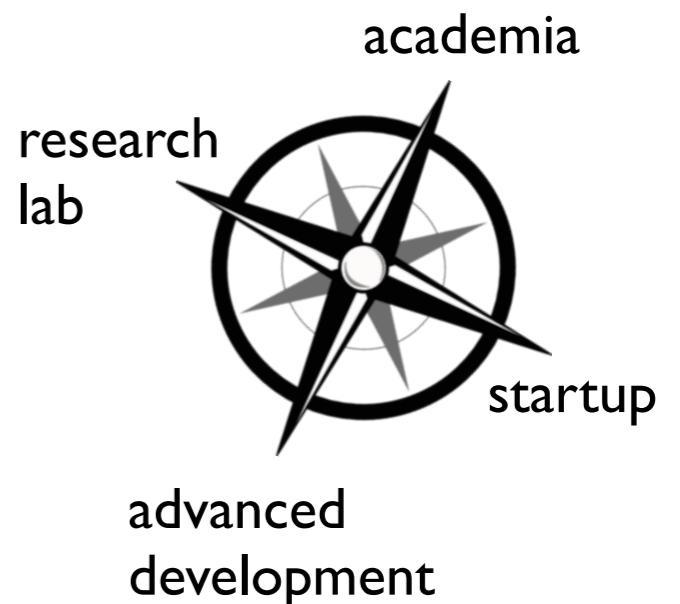

I. Know your goals and values

There is no perfect job.

But you can find the right job for you ...

If you know your goals and values.

1. Do you like to teach? Or do you just like to do research? Write? Present?
2. Do you want to build cool systems used by millions of people?
3. How hard do you want to work? Do you like working on your own, or with others? What is your preferred work-life balance?

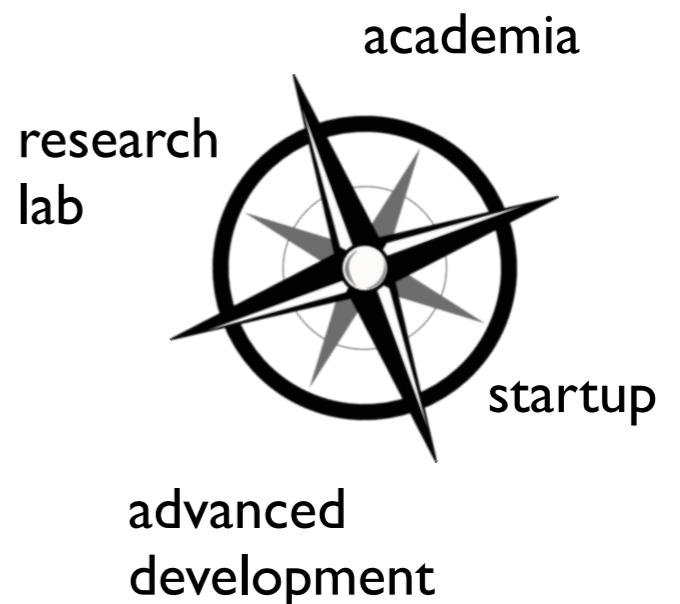

I. Know your goals and values

There is no perfect job.

But you can find the right job for you ...

If you know your goals and values.

Your goals and values may change.

I. Know your goals and values

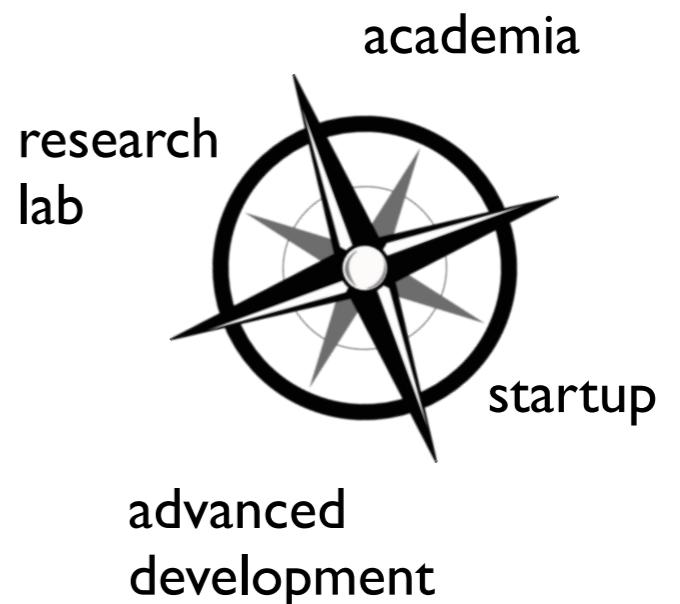

There is no perfect job.

But you can find the right job for you ...

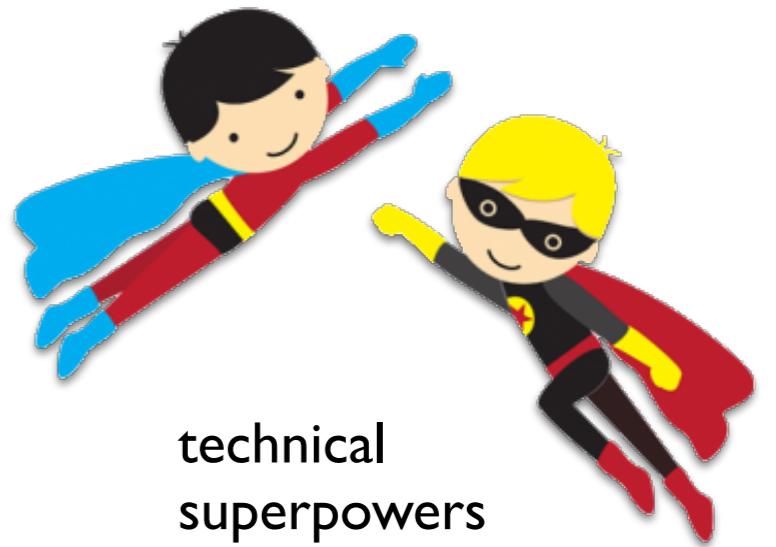

If you know your goals and values.

Your goals and values may change.

You can always switch jobs if you build career capital.

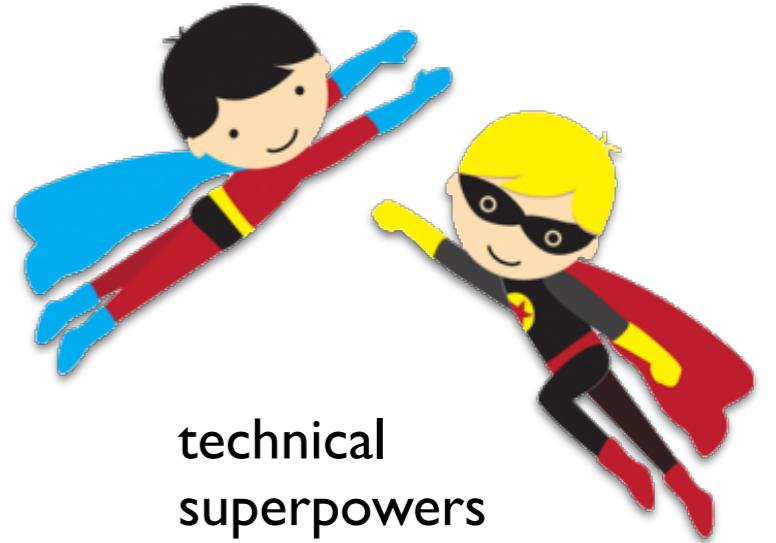

2. Build career capital

technical superpowers

2. Build career capital

Your expertise, body of work, and relationships are your career capital.

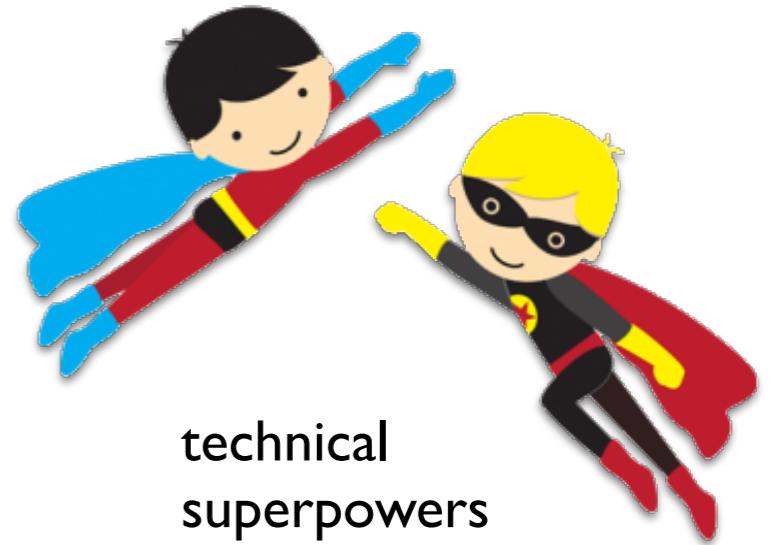

technical
superpowers

2. Build career capital

Your expertise, body of work, and relationships are your career capital.

Building expertise is hard (10,000 hours).

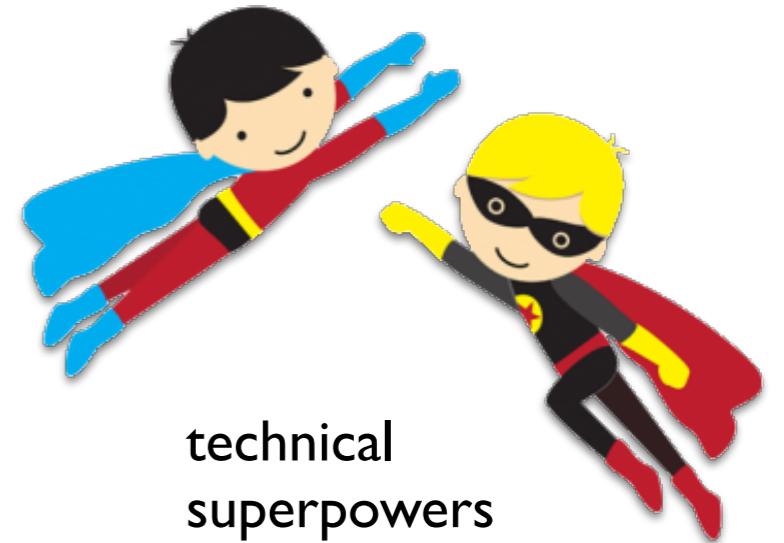

technical
superpowers

2. Build career capital

Your expertise, body of work, and relationships are your career capital.

Building expertise is hard (10,000 hours).

But worth the effort: expertise brings both internal and external rewards.

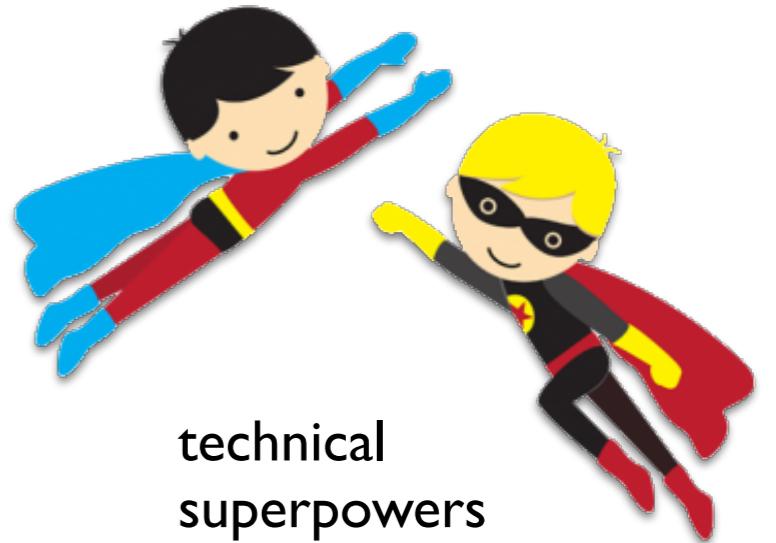

technical
superpowers

2. Build career capital

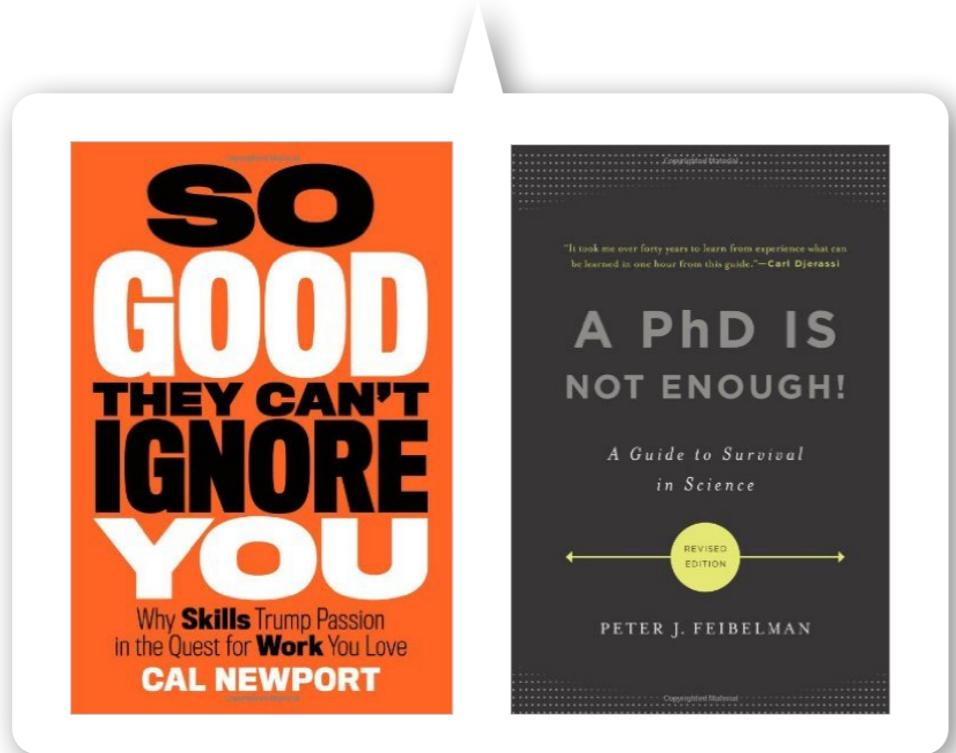

Your expertise, body of work, and relationships are your career capital.

Building expertise is hard (10,000 hours).

But worth the effort: expertise brings both internal and external rewards.

technical
superpowers

3. Cultivate professional relationships

3. Cultivate professional relationships

Seek out awesome people to work with and learn from: mentors, peers, and junior colleagues.

3. Cultivate professional relationships

Seek out awesome people to work with and learn from: mentors, peers, and junior colleagues.

Be reliable, honest, kind, and generous with your time and expertise.

3. Cultivate professional relationships

Seek out awesome people to work with and learn from: mentors, peers, and junior colleagues.

Be reliable, honest, kind, and generous with your time and expertise.

Everyone has something to teach you; listen to them, and then chart your own path to an amazing career!

thanks questions?

1 Know your goals and values.

2
Build career capital.

3 Cultivate professional relationships.